CS306 PROJECT-DATABASE CREATION AND ADMINISTRATION PANEL-REPORT

Mustafa Sergen Haysal – 25431 / Irmak Çoban – 26839 / Arda Göktaş -26708/ Ufuk Atay – 26331

As we mentioned in detail in the previous steps, we are creating an e-commerce website. There are six different relationship sets in the database we created. We have created an admin panel where operations such as adding, deleting, and selecting can be controlled for customer, seller, product, category, and payment sets from these relationship sets. Below are the images and descriptions of these web pages.

ID	Name	Price	Stocksize	Stockstatus
50	zara-esofman-siyah	1000	2	available
51	zara-mont-beyaz	1400	16	available
52	zara-tshirt-beyaz	250	30	available
53	Under Armour-pantalon-beyaz	760	15	available
54	Bershka -mont-mavi	900	18	available
55	Mango -bere-siyah	140	36	available
56	Mango -bere-turuncu	140	0	unavailable
57	Pull & Bear-gomlek-siyah	550	2	available

The above page is the products index page. The content of the data can be viewed on this page. The above page is the products index page. The contents of the data can be viewed on this page. When a new product wanted to be added to the data, the following page opens after filling in the necessary blanks with product information and submitting it.

The screenshot shows a browser window with multiple tabs open, all related to the 'ecommerce_product' application. The active tab is 'insertproduct.php'. The page title is 'INSERTION' and displays the message 'ID: 58 - Name: zara-pantalon-sari - Price: 500 - StockSize: 5 - StockStatus: available'. Below this, there's a section titled 'Products' with the sub-instruction 'Here is the our Product Information in our database.' A table follows, showing product details:

ID	Name	Price	Stocksize	Stockstatus
50	zara-esofman-siyah	1000	2	available
51	zara-mont-beyaz	1400	16	available
52	zara-tshirt-beyaz	250	30	available

On the page above, it can be displayed together with the data image that the insertion process was successfully added to the data.

Below are two consecutive web pages that show how the process works when the necessary information is not entered.
